

The Lab DayZ Common Errors & Fixes

Error codes are split into five sections:

1. Header → "Warning"
2. Full Error Code → (0x00040073) → Category: 0004 = ClientKicked → Code: 0073
3. Prefix → "You were kicked off the game" - describes the event that happened
4. Message → "Data verification error." - reason for the kick
5. Additional Info → "Missing PBO etc" - if applicable, gives detailed information on affected files

Please note all of this information has been gathered and collated using past knowledge of staff alongside with google searching and article reading, if you are still struggling to connect to our servers I encourage you to surf the internet and gather intel and find solutions, these solutions work for some but not for all.

AuthPlayerLoginState

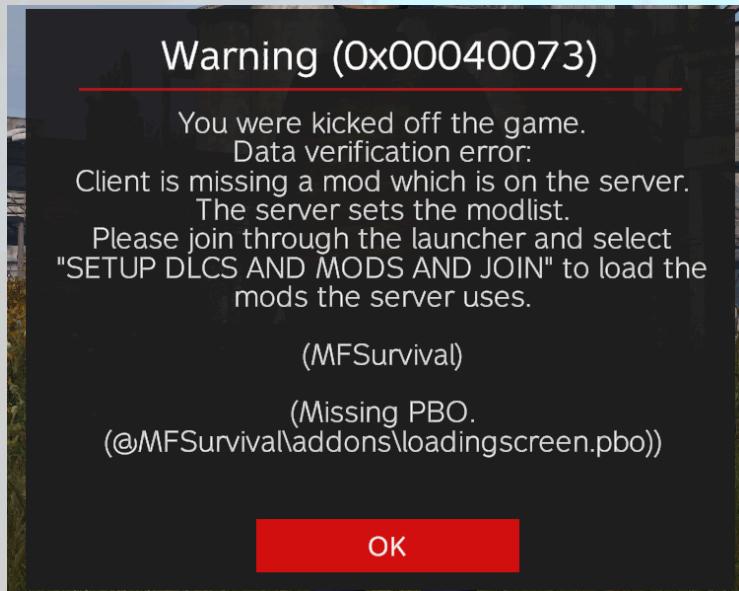

The reasoning behind this error is that it seems you are taking too long to login to the game. Are you doing so via a VPN or maybe your wifi is slow? Try using a direct ethernet connection without any VPN.

Also try to test your ping as it may be too slow to the server. |

To summarize, no files are needed to modify or change or reinstall to fix this error. Try restarting your modem, your computer if the above is not applicable to you.

Data Verification Error

The reasoning behind this error is that the server has a mod which the end user (you) has not got or has not updated to the latest version which the server is running. Since we are constantly pushing out bug updates this is the most common.

Updating mods on Steam Launcher

1. Open the DayZ launcher
2. Click on "Mods"
3. Find the mod listed in the error, type it in your search bar
4. Click the drop down arrow
5. Click the 3 Dots
6. Right click and select "Repair" This will update and repair the mod

Updating mods on DZSA Launcher

1. Open SALauncher
2. Click on "Mods"
3. Find the mod listed in the error, type it in your search bar
4. Select the verify button, it looks like a refresh button (circled below)

Refer to image below:

The screenshot shows the DayZ DZSA Launcher interface. On the left, there's a sidebar with options: NEWS, PARAMETERS, MODS (which is circled in red), BATTLEYE, and SERVERS. Below the sidebar is a large red button labeled "PLAY". The main area has tabs for "MODS" and "PARAMETERS", with "MODS" selected. It shows a "Loaded mods" section with 40 items, including "BuildAnywhere_v3" which is currently selected (indicated by a checkmark) and has a detailed info panel open. This panel includes fields for Source (Steam Workshop (UGC)), Author ([G.P.]NOIZZ(MC2)), Last update (7/26/2021 4:14 AM), File size (368.9 KB), Status (Ready), and Multiplayer (Signed). A context menu is open over this mod, with the "Repair" option highlighted and circled in red. The menu also includes "Open folder in Windows Explorer", "Copy as a local mod...", and "Copy to a folder...". To the right of the loaded mods list is a "Servers" tab, which is also circled in red. The "Servers" tab lists various mods with columns for NAME, UPDATED, and actions like Subscribed, Verify, and Delete. A banner at the bottom of the launcher says "PROMOTE YOUR SERVER" with a link "Click here for server listings".

Connection With Host Has Been Lost

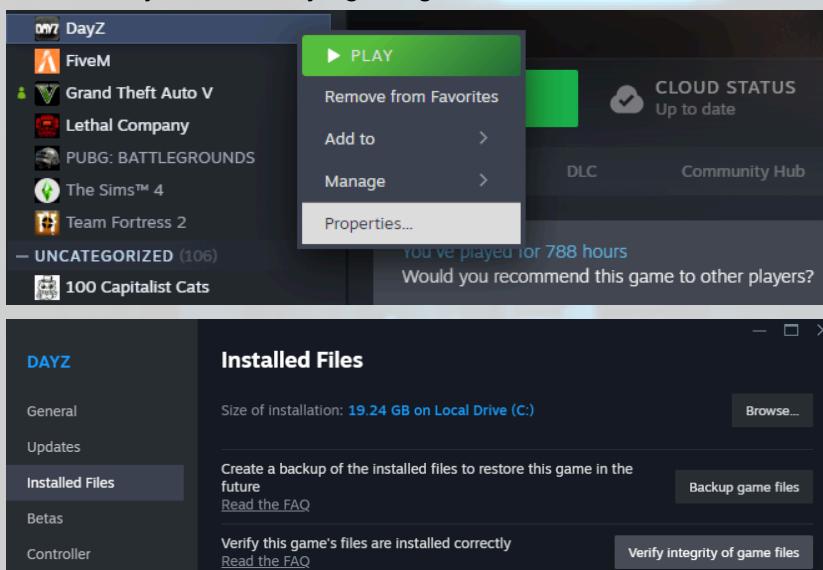

The reasoning behind this error is very challenging as it can be a number of things, so there are many different fixes you can attempt to get around this.

The connection failure issue can also be triggered by the faulty game files.

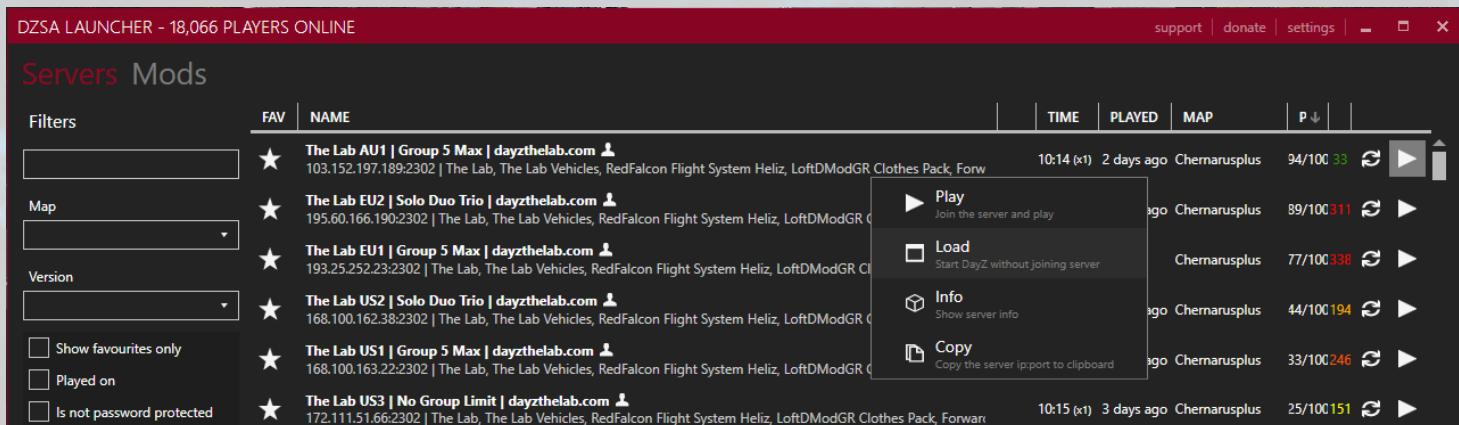

In Steam, navigate to the “LIBRARY” tab and right-click on DayZ. Then select “Properties”

Click the “Installed Files tab” then click the button “Verify integrity of game files”

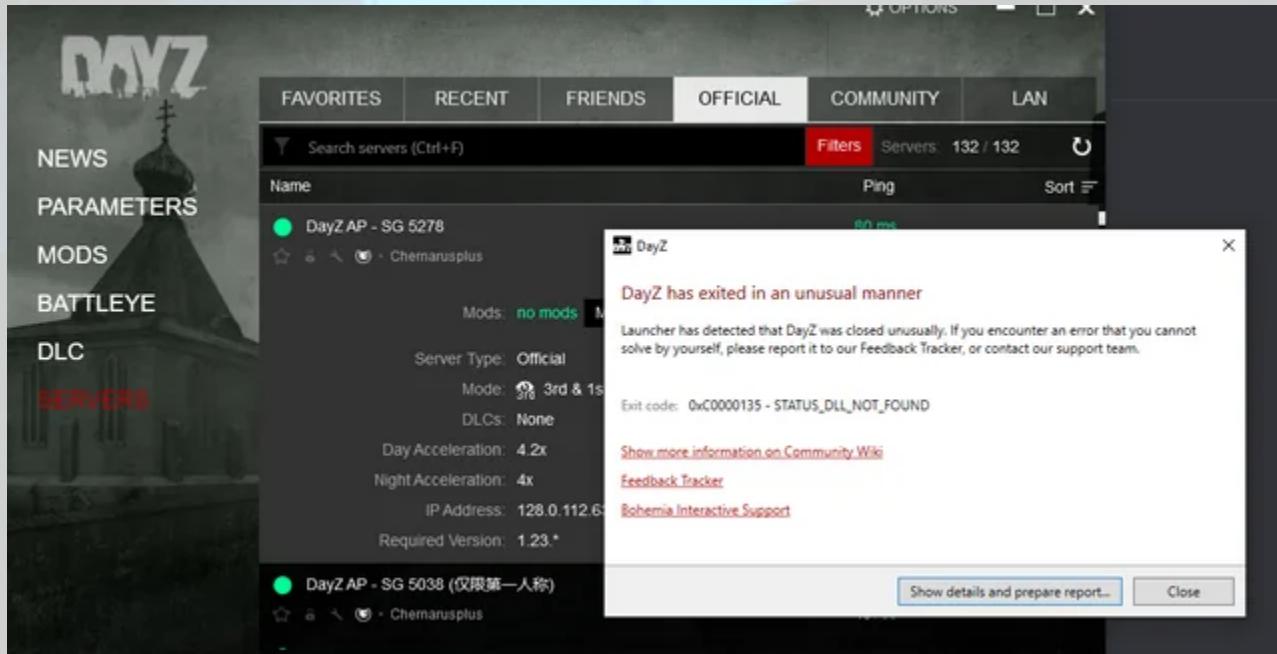

Launch DayZ after verifying the game files

Another common reason for this error is your game struggles to load into the server while setting up the mods simultaneously, this is common with computers with weaker performance and/or connection to the host. You can join the server via the DZSA Launcher and select the “Load” option instead of “Play” this will then load your DayZ onto the main menu where then you will get the option to select the server you wish to join.

STATUS_DLL_NOT_FOUND

This is almost always a System error on your end, nothing to do with the server. Your computer Operating System is unable to load a file that is required to run the game. A missing DLL may belong to the game, the OS or one of the required components (DirectX e.g.).

Here is some possible solutions:

Verify the integrity of the game cache using Steam, which you can do here

Re-install DirectX, you can learn this here

Uninstall the Visual C++ 2013 Redistributable package (both x86 and x64 version), restart your computer and install the package again here (do not use the Repair function).

Query Timeout

The reasoning behind this one is some type of end user internet issue, here is some fixes:

Ensure you are running windows 10 2004 or above, ensure you have exceptions in your firewall for the Dayz Folder.

Within Dayz folder Find Battleye folder:

Run the Uninstall_Battleye.bat file

Restart your PC

go back to above folder run the install_Battleye.bat file

Restart your PC

Update your Router Firmware to the latest available firmware (This is important as many older routers struggle with complex NAT translations)

Update your Anti virus/Firewall (if not MS Windows) to the latest version

Try to remove your Firewall software (if not MS Windows) and try again

Verify game files through Steam

Verify Windows files through a CMD prompt using SFC /scannow

Download www.malwarebytes.com trial and scan for malware (you can uninstall straight after a scan and clean is completed)

We have also had reports that players have been able to connect successfully by disabling Steam Cloud.

To do this you can navigate to the Steam Library, right click on DayZ game and select Properties.

Under the General tab, the Steam Cloud setting can be toggled and turned off.

If none of this solves the problem, last resort and only other known intermittent fix is that we have seen some success with players using a different steam account, now this is not 100% guaranteed to work, it's only a possibility. Please create and/or purchase DayZ on a different steam account if you are financially able too.
